

Hidden Lies

In the rich world of high society, Ophelia, a talented violinist, finds herself entwined in a knot of passion and betrayal. Her life took a thrilling turn when she fell for the charming and mysterious Tyler, a wealthy businessman with a dark past.

As their chaotic romance grew, Ophelia discovered that he was shielding secrets, secrets that tied him to a dangerous underworld. Drawn into the shadows of fraud, Ophelia became a pawn in a game of power and revenge. The music that once echoed with love ringed with the haunting notes of uncertainty.

In the quiet moments between robbed kisses and happy laughter, Ophelia sensed an invisible shield surrounding Tyler, the man who held her heart in his hands. His eyes glistened with unspoken tales, hinted at a past painted in shadows. Tyler's love for Ophelia was not so secret: an unseen wall stood between them, built with the stone of lies and secrets. He would disappear for hours, always returning with mysteries in his eyes, leaving Ophelia to wonder about the unknown parts of his world. The quiet mysteries only fueled her desire to reveal the secrets of his soul. In the melody of their entwined love, she found herself entangled in lies.

One evening curiosity gets the best of her. She starts going through his bedroom and finds nothing. She gets in the closet and moves away coats hanging in perfect color order to find a hidden door. She opens the door, scared yet intrigued to find what hides inside. As the door creaks open, she finds something unexpected. As her eyes scan the room, the truth finally comes to her. The man she loved was living a double life. He was living his life owning a criminal empire.

She reads through millions of documents about his family and how his dad was a very well-known billionaire who robbed, killed and owned half the town. She looks at many pictures only to reveal that he has the city under his control now and is behind many of the mysterious murders.

Caught in the reality of what happened, Ophelia realizes she has to decide whether to stay or break it off. She thinks of all the good romantic times they have shared and a feeling of warmth shoots through her. But then she goes cold as she remembers the lies she has discovered. With fear of what the future holds, she makes a hard decision.

She walked to him and said, " I know your secrets, yet I'm choosing to continue loving you as it doesn't bother me, it just makes me crave you more." Tyler grabs her by the waist, kisses her, and replies, " I'm sorry to have kept it from you but it was for your safety. I'm glad you love me enough to stay." The decision to stay was a leap of faith; she knew she wanted him and only him. That's why she stayed.

Things became better as their love continued to grow until one night he told her, " I have to tell you that dating me makes you a target of my enemies, but if you're with me nothing can or will happen." Getting on one knee, he continues, "That's why I ask, Ophelia Mae Smith, will you marry me and become my queen of this city?" She smiles and nods her head yes, shedding tears of happiness. In her heart, she knew he was the only one and that their souls were the same, and she smiled for her soulmate.

Before she knows it, the wedding day comes. As she walked down the aisle surrounded by the glow of excitement, chaos shattered. Everything became a nightmare as the gunshots flew in the air and stopped time as they pierced through her chest. Nothing but pain was in the air. Crumpled on the ground, her once cream-colored gown was now stained with blood from a harsh reality.

As Tyler stood at the altar, he fell to his knees. Sobbing, he started screaming. He stands up from the adrenaline running through his body and starts running after the people who made this venue a haunted place. He eventually finds the other gang trying to take his spot bragging about the killing. Without thinking bullets are shed. Bang. He now stands in a room of blood-splattered walls looking around smiling, happy he got revenge.

Until all of a sudden before he can turn around or react he hears a bang and feels the bullet pierce through his stomach. The last thing he sees is Ophelia standing over him laughing with her father. But he had never met him and he is recognized as the enemy leader. Then everything goes blank.

All of a sudden reality snaps back into place and the betrayal and anger seep back into Ophelia's mind. "I loved Tyler. Why did you make me shoot him, Dad?"

"Because no one can be better than me."

Ophelia smirks "Yes, they can, and I am glad Tyler and I wore bullet proof vests." She pulls the gun back out and another bang, bang, bang can be heard. Tyler stands up and smiles, knowing he played life right.